

SPLIT CROSSWORD

In celebration of Ange and Jen joining together, you'll have to join together some clues in this crossword. The clue for each entry in this crossword has been split into half before being put into the list below, and the sum of those two halves has been placed in the grid. For example, the bottom left entry has the number 126, which means you'll need to find two numbers, each less than 64, that add up to 126, and when you find them, the words next to those two numbers form the clue for what goes in that row in the grid. Each clue half will only be used once, although some numbers in the grid will be used multiple times (when the same number refers to an across clue and a down clue, like the 5 in this grid). Combine all the clues and solve the crossword!
